

Entered at the Postoffice at Accomac, C. H. Va., as second-class matter.

The proof is daily accumulating that the President proposes to run the government upon business principles. The proposition enunciated by him prior to the election, that office is a public trust, is being daily illustrated, not only in his own case, but in the appointments made by him to office. Reports as to his movements only are to the effect, that he is diligently employed in giving his attention to the affairs of the government. Recreation at summer resorts and junketing tours at the expense of the government, already suggested to him have been brushed aside as unworthy his notice, while business at the Capital requires his attention. The President, heretofore, regarded as a mere figure head and a man of elegant leisure, in the person of Cleveland becomes to us the master spirit, which guides and controls the nation. The office of President heretofore, looked upon as a sinecure, Cleveland has already taught us to believe is a position, which only can be properly filled by arduous and incessant toil. It is by reason of the duties which encompass it, necessarily the place of a working man and our President by his acts already seems to have won the appellation. Nor, while he works, does he propose to shirk the duties under him to shirk the duties incumbent upon them. The removal recently by him of the postmaster at Rome, N. Y., is conclusive proof, that he expects officers under him to earn their pay. In that case he recommended his removal to the Senate because the office at Rome, N. Y., had not been properly kept. The Senate failing to remove him, on the ground it seems that the malfeasance in office was the act of the assistant post master and not the postmaster himself the President takes the matter in his own hands and in his instructions to the Postmaster General touching the case, takes occasion to say, that postmasters cannot by delegating their duties to others, shift the responsibility of malfeasance upon the shoulders of their assistants. (Instead of 11 o'clock, as his predecessor had done) so as to be able to "put in a good day's work" and evidently does not intend to have idlers either around him or occupying offices within his gift.

The Confederate Relief Bazaar of Maryland was opened in Baltimore Tuesday night, to last till Saturday night. The ladies who have the matter in charge have been engaged for weeks in making preparations for it—and the scene at the opening, as was to be expected, is described as "one of remarkable beauty and animation." The decorations of the booths are very elaborate, a pleasing effect being given especially to them, by battle flags, swords, portraits and other Confederate relics and the gifts presented are valuable, numerous and of endless variety. The object for which the Bazaar is held being the relief of destitute Confederate soldiers, is one which appeals so strongly to the feelings of Marylanders, that no one doubts, what the outcome of it is to be financially.

The closing of the Exchange Bank is the severest financial shock Norfolk has ever experienced. The bank was regarded as absolutely sound, and did the largest business in the State, and practically built up the cotton trade of this port. Its officers are John B. Whitehead, president; Jas. G. Bain, vice-president; Geo. B. Bain, Jr., cashier. A report of the condition of the bank, made on March 20, put the capital stock at $300,000; surplus fund and undivided profits, $279,319; loans and discounts, $2,755,903; deposits, $2,422,621, and total resources, $3,978,674. The immediate cause of the suspension was the inability of Bain & Bro., bankers of Portsmouth, to meet their indebtedness to the Exchange Bank, amounting to $800,000. This amount was reduced to about $230,000, but the $300,000 necessary to put the bank upon a proper footing under the law, as required by the controller of the currency, could not be obtained.

A bank examiner about March 12, in his report, stated that the bank was largely exceeding the legal limits in the line of discounts and was in deficit in its reserve fund. The controller of the currency wrote the bank officers; stating that unless this was rectified by April 25, when the charter of the bank expires, the charter would be cancelled. Efforts were made by Bain & Bro. to reimburse the bank, but the shrinkage in value of their real estate and general securities, and a threatened run on them forced them to suspend. Their liabilities are roughly estimated at $1,000,000, and their assets at $1,000,000.

Monday was the anniversary of the Battle of Shiloh, when the great southern leader, Albert Sidney Johnston, yielded his body to death. It was a day ever to be remembered, filled as it was with the bitterest of human happenings. — State.

VIRGINIA NEWS.

A camp of ex Confederate veterans is to be formed at Front Royal, Virginia.

At Mr. C. B. Hewitt's sale in Clarke county, last week, a shepherd dog brought $101.

Reports from numerous points show that abandoned wheat fields, which were about to be plowed up for other crops, have come out so finely since the warm weather as to change entirely the crop prospect reported earlier in the season.

Quite an unusual scene and one that could only occur in the Southern States, took place at Trinity Episcopal church, in Staunton, last week. Mary Ann Carter, a former slave died. At her funeral a large number of the white congregation were in attendance, and the fine choir of the church gave the musical service. The pall bearers were all prominent white citizens, including the mayor of the city. — Staunton News.

Mr. Geo. W. Palmer has made a successful experiment in raising bright tobacco in Southwestern Virginia. On his farm in Smyth county he raised in 1883, forty-nine thousand pounds of yellow tobacco, which he sold in Lynchburg, at an average of $22.50 per hundred pounds, realizing over $11,000 for his crop. This year his crop now in his barn will reach 60,000 pounds, and he is arranging to plant this spring for a crop of about 400,000 hills, or 80 acres. Another farmer in the same vicinity will plant 300,000 hills.

A number of prominent citizens of Fairfax county recently addressed a letter to Gen. W. H. F. Lee—son of the late Gen. Robt. E. Lee—requesting permission to place his name before the people as a candidate for the democratic nomination for Governor of Virginia. To this request Gen. Lee responds as follows, under date of New Orleans, March 26: "I wish I could convey to you in this letter my appreciation of your kindness in desiring to make me next Governor of Virginia—an honor which would fully satisfy the ambition of any of her sons. But I cannot consent, under existing circumstances, to allow my name to be used in that connection, as it would interfere with the canvass of my cousin, Gen. Fitz Lee, who, I am informed, will be brought before the next democratic convention for that position."

The Old Testament.
LONDON, April 5.—The revised edition of the Old Testament will be issued to the public on the first day of May. Several American publishers have made efforts to forestall the issue in England by attempting to secure advance proofs. American book publishers have offered as high as $5,000 for single advance proofs. It is not believed that any of them have succeeded in getting what they have known, have caused those having the work under control to adopt precautions to prevent advance publications.

Bank Failures in Norfolk.
The Exchange National Bank of Norfolk failed on Thursday 2d inst. Until the morning of its failure the bank was negotiating for the money to assist it out of its difficulties. The moment those negotiating mis-carried it closed its doors.

The Franklin Savings Bank, located on Bank street, also closed its doors owing to the fact that all of its deposits are placed in the vaults of the Exchange Bank.

Closely following the closing of the Exchange Bank, the banking house of Bain Bro., in Portsmouth, closed its doors. This house was regarded as one of the strongest in the State.

body into the water, and with throwing her while alive into the water and causing her death by drowning. Several new witnesses were before the grand jury, whose evidence it is believed will bring out some important points in the case not heretofore known. There are, however, still many important links in the chain of circumstantial evidence against Cluverius necessary to complete it. Unless these can be found the prisoner will rely upon their absence to a great extent to secure an acquittal. One of the weakest points in the case for the prosecution is that the deceased has never been recognized as the woman who accompanied the prisoner after the couple is supposed to have left the American Hotel on the night of the girl's death.

The colored boy who carried a note from the prisoner to the deceased on the night of the murder has never been found. Every effort has been made by the police and detectives to get on the track of this messenger, but without success.

So far the counsel for the prisoner has not given the slightest intimation what line of defence they will pursue. It is not improbable, however, that they hope to be able to prove an alibi for Cluverius.

"Adam the goodliest man of men since born," still could not be called exactly enviable, for when he tilted the ground in the dewy twilight and caught a sharp touch of rheumatism, he had no Salvation Oil for his cure, and no twenty-five cents to try it.

AYER'S PILLS.

A large proportion of the diseases which cause human suffering result from derangement of the stomach, bowels, and liver. AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS are directly upon these organs, and are especially designed to cure the diseases caused by their derangement, including Constipation, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Headache, Dysentery, and a host of other ailments, for all of which they are a safe, sure, prompt, and pleasant remedy. The extensive use of these PILLS by eminent physicians in regular practice, shows unmistakably the estimation in which they are held by the medical profession.

These PILLS are compounded of vegetable substances only, and are absolutely free from calomel or any other injurious ingredient.

A Sufferer from Headache writes: "AYER'S PILLS are invaluable to me, and are my constant companion. I have been a severe sufferer from Headache, and your PILLS are the only thing I can look to for relief. One dose will quickly move my bowels and free my head from pain. They are the most effective and the easiest to take I have ever found. It is a pleasure to me to speak in their praise, and I always do so when I am asked for a recommendation."

W. L. PAGE, of W. L. Page & Bro., Franklin St., Richmond, Va., June 3, 1882.

"I have used AYER'S PILLS in numberless instances as recommended by you, and have never known them to fail to accomplish the desired result. We constantly keep them on hand at our house, and prize them as a pleasant, safe, and reliable family medicine. For DYSPEPSIA they are invaluable."

was the first preparation perfectly adapted to cure diseases of the scalp, and the first successful restorer of faded or gray hair to its natural color, growth, and youthful beauty. It has had many imitations, but none have so fully met all the requirements needed for the proper treatment of the hair and scalp. HALL'S HAIR RENEWER has steadily grown in favor, and spread its fame and usefulness to every quarter of the globe. Its unparalleled success can be attributed to but one cause, the entire fulfillment of its promises.

The proprietors have often been surprised at the receipt of orders from remote countries, where they had never made an effort for its introduction.

The use for a short time of HALL'S HAIR RENEWER wonderfully improves the personal appearance. It cures the scalp from all impurities, cures all humors, fever, and dizziness, and thus prevents baldness. It stimulates the weakened glands, and enables them to push forward a new and vigorous growth. The effects of this article are most transient, like those of alcoholic preparations, but remain a long time, which makes its use a matter of economy.
